If you want to add contacts in the Exchange Global Address List to Outlook's Contacts, open the Address Book (Ctrl+Shift+B) and select the GAL contacts (using either Shift+ or Ctrl+ to select multiple entries at once) then right-click or open the File menu, and choose Add to Contacts to create copies of the GAL contacts in Outlook's Contacts folder. If you have Check for duplicates enabled in Options, People (Contacts in older versions of Outlook), Outlook will let you know if any of the contacts are already in the Contacts folder. If you have the Social Connector enabled and the GAL version of the Contact is updated, the Outlook contact will be updated as well. In older versions of Outlook the Exchange x.400 address is used and you'll need to use the methods below to export the SMTP addresses.Exchange administrators with POP3 or IMAP users who won't or can't use LDAP have asked whether it's possible to extract the SMTP addresses from the Global Address List and distribute them in some portable format. (You may have noticed that GAL entries added to Outlook contacts resolve to the Exchange X.400 address, not the SMTP address.) We suggest several methods below. PAB + Outlook Express Method | ToolsThe Add to Contacts command was added to Outlook several versions ago, but if you are still using a really old version of Outlook, you can use the following method to add the GAL contacts to Outlook. MVP Hal Hostettler devised this method, which requires that you have Outlook Express and that the Personal Address Book (PAB) service be installed in your Outlook profile.In Outlook, click the Address Book button to display the Address Book dialog. Under Show Names from the, select Personal Address Book.To create a new PAB named GALTransfer.pab, right-click on Personal Address Book in the Show Names from the list, then choose Properties. Under Path, enter a new path, if desired, and the file name GALTransfer.pab. Click OK.Back in the Address Book dialog box, under Show Names from the, select Global Address List (or any Recipients container or address book view).Hold down the Ctrl key as you click on each name you want in your portable GAL PAB. If you want to select all names, click on the first name in the list, then use the scroll bar to see the last name. Hold down the Shift key as you click the last name.Right click on the selected names, and choose Add to Personal Address Book from the address menu.Open Outlook Express. If you have names already in your OE address, you may want to export and delete them, so they don't get mixed into your portable GAL.Choose File | Import | Address Book.In the Address Book Import Tool dialog, select Microsoft Exchange Personal Address Book, and then click Import. This will the SMTP addresses for the GAL entries that were in the PAB into your Windows Address Book in OE.Return to Outlook.Repeat Step 2, but this time create a new PAB file named GALSMTP.pab.Use Outlook's File | Import and Export function to import addresses from Outlook Express into your Personal Address book.When you finish, the GALSMTP.pab file will contain the names and SMTP addresses of everyone you selected from the GAL in Step 4. It will not, however, have any other GAL details, such as department or phone number. If you need that information and not just the SMTP addresses, you'll need to try one of the other methods.You can also skip steps 9-11 and instead use File | Export | Address Book in Outlook Express to export the GAL address to a comma-delimited .csv file that virtually any e-mail program should be able to import into its address book. Employees need to access the latest Office 365 Global Address List (GAL) on their smartphones to get business done. Without the latest GAL, they waste time answering spam calls or missing business-critical calls from co-workers, prospects, and customers. This video shows how easy it is to sync the GAL to smartphones in less than 2 minutes. For step-by-step instructions, check out this guide on how to run a GAL sync using the CiraSnc dashboard. Contact support for additional information.The incident ID is: N/A The Global Address List in Exchange Server contains the contact data from all mailboxes and contacts in a company. The GAL might be searched online from many devices, but offline synchronization and Caller ID resolution are not available. The address book entries can be fetched by PeopleSync to bring them to your Android SmartPhones and Tablets or other apps and devices. PeopleSync will retrieve phone numbers, addresses and even the profile pictures, stored in Active Directory. PeopleSync will work with Exchange Server 2010 and 2013 as well as with Office 365 Exchange Online. Googles operating system Android gained a huge market share and powers many smartphones and tablets. The PeopleSync Server is capable of bringing you Exchange Server GALs to your Android SmartPhones and Tablets as well as to other mobile devices. The contacts can be synchronized via CardDAV or accessed online via LDAP. As Google does not provide these protocols in the native operating system, you need to install an app to communicate with PeopleSync. messageconcept provides the free CardDAV-Client PeopleSync App for download in the Google PlayStore. The app comes with an AutoDiscover functionality to find configure the server settings automatically. Alternatively several 3rd party Android apps for CardDAV and LDAP are available. Sync your Exchange global address list (GAL) or Office 365 GAL automatically to personal contact folders for a copy of your corporate address book contacts and for viewing on mobiles (iPhones, Androids Blackberry, Windows phones). Mobile devices sync with your Outlook contacts mailbox folder, however most have a limitation of not being able to sync contacts from the Exchange global address list or from a corporate address book/contact list kept in a Microsoft Exchange public folder. Even if they can, many accounts would need to be hidden for users not to view or access service accounts or distribution lists.Easily update, sync, and distribute your global address list (GAL) company wide for viewing on mobiles and for caller ID recognition. With our GAL sync software, you can automatically sync your GAL to your users local contacts folder using the GAL Sync Manager! Global Address List synchronization allows you to treat the Exchange GAL or Office 365 GAL as the source folder to be synchronized one way with selected destination (target) folders i.e. your users' local Outlook contact folders. Once the GAL contacts are in your personal contact folder, the mobile device's sync software (Exchange ActiveSync, BES) takes over to sync it down to the mobile.GAL Sync UsesOffice 365/Exchange Online GAL sync to mobiles for caller ID recognition including contact photos.Sync Exchange Server GAL to users' contact folders for viewing on iPhones, Androids, Blackberry, Windows phones and any smartphones which connect with Exchange ActiveSync. Users can easily identify who is calling from the office and even see the caller's photo.Looking for an affordable GAL Sync software alternative? Connected Software announced earlier this year that they are winding down operations and shutting down September 30, 2022. For affordable Epicenter Server GAL sync alternatives, a replacement solution you can count on, DidItBetter Software can help — ask about Add2Exchange! Other solutions out there may cost your company more than you need to be spending — monthly or annually, or may not be able to offer you what you really need. Contact us today for a license recommendation — hosted options available! Automatic unidirectional GAL synchronization.Our software creates a 'temp' folder ('GalCache' or 'Company Contacts' folder) to automatically populate with your active AD accounts, contacts, email-enabled public folders and/or distribution lists and email enabled Security Groups. Use one way 'source to destination' mappings and template relationships so selected users will receive the replicated contents in their local mailbox contacts. From there, the mobile device's sync software takes over for viewing on the smartphone or tablet. Finally, your team can have access to updated contacts anywhere.Exclusions support. It's not all or nothing - be selective. Any account or distribution list may be included or excluded from the sync. Just 'point and click' to select which users to sync the contacts to.Support for caller ID photos. Pictures (small-sized) can be added to the GalCache folder and those pictures are copied to the destination users' folders so when the contact calls, the caller's picture appears on the phone! Your team can easily identify who's calling from the office.Single point installation and centralized management. One installation — no additional software installed on user desktops and no mobile device apps to install. The installation, any inclusions and exclusions are all administered and managed from one central location — the built in console on the replication machine it's installed on.Easy to use. Once the software is installed and configured, the synchronization takes place automatically based on the folder relationships created and settings you selected. There is no user involvement! Refer to our product guide for additional information.For additional information on GAL synchronization (initializing a GAL sync, creating a GAL sync relationship, GAL exclusions, editing GAL sync relationships), please reference our product documentation.Add2Exchange Enterprise 365: Microsoft 365 (fka Office 365), hosted Exchange, hybrid platforms (on prem Exchange and Office 365), on-premise Exchange Server 2019 and prior, Exchange Server 2019, 2016, 2013, 2010 and prior.DidItBetter Cross Tenant GAL Sync: Our Cross Tenant Sync, automatically sync GAL objects from one organization in one domain (or tenant) to another domain (or tenant). After doing some research for an Exchange server-side solution to our problem, we chose DidItBetter's Add2Exchange Enterprise solution with the GAL Sync Manager. All other solutions only addressed part the problem, were device specific, or wanted to charge us an arm and a leg ... Add2Exchange Enterprise is running completely transparent to our users, offering a complete end-to-end solution with no user intervention required. There are no client plug-ins or mobile apps needed, and our employees don't have to do anything to make it happen. We had the DidItBetter Software support team install it and train us on best practices with the software .. very responsive and professional.Luke R. We needed an Office 365 solution. When we had on premises Exchange, we used Add2Exchange to sync our global address list to our users' mobiles and didn't realize how heavily we relied on it until we moved to Office 365. When we migrated, we contacted DidItBetter to see if they had another sync tool we could use and they came through for us once again with Add2Outlook Server. Their support team was very helpful (and patient with us) with the transition from Add2Exchange Enterprise to Add2Outlook and developed a nifty conversion program to avoid duplication and dereplication.James D.
